Nuts or Other Allergies

Due to the presence of food allergens in the snacks served, Frontier Airlines cannot guarantee an allergen-free environment on its flights. We also cannot prevent passengers from bringing products containing nuts or other allergens (e.g. service animals) onboard our flights.

If you have a severe nut or food allergy, please notify a flight attendant on board the aircraft so we can attempt to notify customers nearby to refrain from eating any allergen-containing products they may have brought. Please understand that we cannot prevent any customer from eating the products they have brought on board.

We encourage customers to review any health concerns with their physicians prior to flying.
